BRILLO BOX (3¢ OFF) (2016) 10 p.m. on HBO; also streaming on HBO Now. This light-hearted documentary intertwines the legacy of Andy Warhol's "Brillo Box" with that of the family that bought one of the iconic sculptures for a meager $1,000. The parents of the director, Lisanne Skyer, traded their Warhol gem for a drawing in 1969. After bouncing around the contemporary art world for 40 years, that same "Brillo Box" was bought by a collector in an international bidding war for more than $3 million. Through interviews with her parents, art critics and historians, Ms. Skyer offers a personal, and laughable, take on a global phenomenon.

THE BACHELORETTE 8 p.m. on ABC. Rachel Lindsay is up for an emotional roller coaster in this three-hour finale. One of her remaining bachelors will have to go before she can have her final dates with the last two men and decide which has won her heart.
